Located 25 miles north of Boston, the UMass Lowell Graduate School of Education is a vibrant site for teaching and learning. The school is NCATE accredited and is noted for its strength in post baccalaureate teacher preparation as well as doctoral programs in math and science education, leadership in schooling, and language arts and literacy. Working in close partnership with PK-12 schools in the region, the Graduate School of Education is dedicated to transforming and improving the quality of education for students of all ages. Tenure track faculty positions are available in three areas.

Science Education – requires a doctorate in science education; an undergraduate degree in science or engineering; three years of elementary, middle or high school teaching; teaching at the graduate level; record of research, grants and publications; and experience with PK-12 science teacher professional development.

Mathematics Education – requires a doctorate in mathematics education; an undergraduate degree in mathematics; three years of elementary, middle or high school teaching; teaching at the graduate level; record of research, grants, and publications; and experience with PK-12 mathematics teacher professional development.

Leadership in Schooling – seeks an individual whose focus is on educational policy, politics and school reform. Requires a doctorate in education; teaching experience at the graduate level; record of research, grants, and publications; and experience and willingness to work with new technologies and understanding of diverse communities. Practical experience in the world of school reform preferred.

Rank and Salary – commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Application Procedure: Screening of applications will begin in November 2005 and will continue until the positions are filled. Appointments are subject to funding.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, vitae, copies of two recent publications, and the names of three references as follows:

For Science Education and Mathematics Education:
Anita Greenwood, Ed.D.
University of Massachusetts Lowell
510 O’Leary Library
61 Wilder Street
Lowell, MA 01854
Anita_Greenwood@uml.edu

For Leadership in Schooling:
Judith Davidson, Ph.D.
Graduate School of Education
University of Massachusetts Lowell
510 O’Leary Library
61 Wilder Street
Lowell, MA 01854
Judith_Davidson@uml.edu